Tailored solutions in timber

Attractive, durable and sustainable

Arden's timber windows and doors make an instant impact on any residential development.

Our products increase perceived value, improve margins and have the advantage of being built from timber, which has one of the lowest carbon footprints of any building material.

The simple solution

We offer six systems of made-to-measure timber windows and a comprehensive range of external single, double and bi-fold doorsets. We also offer a wide variety of window and door combinations including arches, raked heads, round and oval windows, screens and bay configurations. And we don't just supply, we also install nationally.

Source all your fenestration requirements through us and benefit from simplified procurement, product continuity and lower costs.

More reasons to choose Arden Windows

Tailored products and services

All our products can be tailored to site specific requirements and our surveying, delivery and installation services will flex according to your needs. Whether its one plot, one site or a multi-site contract, our team will deliver what you want, when you want it.

High performance specifications

Thermal efficient glazing, Secured By Design (SBD) ironmongery (to BS7950) and advanced timber preservation and coatings technology significantly enhance security and durability. By making our products last longer we reduce whole life costs.

Arden Windows' customer relationships engender conviction, passion, trust and mutual respect

Design and quality

Each window system has been specifically designed using our own bespoke profile sections which incorporate a vented drainage channel to remove any excess moisture. The rounded profile shape ensures water is shed quickly to extend coatings life and improve paint adhesion.

Laminated timber is carefully selected to exclude heartwood and engineered to meet the BS EN942 standard ensuring knots and other defects are minimised. Espagnolette hinges come with enhanced corrosion resistance and door hinges have built in anti-wear bearings for long service life.

Successful business relationships

We aim to ensure products are specified, manufactured and installed right first time. Construction has become a fast moving industry where we must maintain a careful balance between flexibility and a friendly approach with attention to detail and technical excellence. With the vast majority of our customers repeat purchasers, we think we've managed to get that balance right so far.

Reducing our environmental impact

All our products are not only naturally renewable but also independently certified by the FSC as sustainable. They save energy, are recyclable and add to our overall quality of life.

Buy carbon neutral

Timber acts as a carbon sink during its growth phase, and when managed sustainably (ensuring replacement trees are planted to offset Forestry activity) effectively counterbalance subsequent carbon emissions during its manufacture and use. For this reason, our stained timber casement windows are rated A+ in the BRE (Building Research Establishment) Green Guide to Specification (www.thegreenguide.org.uk).

On average every cubic metre of wood used instead of other construction materials [such as steel, plastic or aluminium] saves 0.75 to 1.1 tonne of carbon dioxide (CO₂)*

Say no to VOCs (Volatile Organic Compounds)

VOCs are recognised to significantly harm the environment by contributing to ozone depletion and global warming. We decided to switch from VOC based preservatives and paints to highly effective water based Boron timber preservative and water based paints. These comply with VOC 2010 and REACH. By purchasing products from Arden Windows, 10 litres of VOC based solvent can be saved based on an average semi-detached house when compared to similar products that use VOC based solvent preservatives and paints.

FSC Hardwood and softwood timber

We are one of only a small number of companies in the UK to provide both FSC hardwood and softwood products. This ensures that our timber comes from a sustainable source and that our stained products achieve the BRE Green Guide top A+ rating.

Extensive guarantees

All products come with 10 year guarantees on ironmongery and factory glazed units plus 35 years against timber frame fungal rot and insect attack (5 years more than most other competitors' products) when adequately maintained during their service life.

By following our maintenance guidance, overall life in service can potentially be extended well beyond 35 years. Optional Care Packs are available for home-owners to keep paintwork in pristine condition.
